4AKUSTIK® WALL PANELS ARE EXCEPTIONALLY EFFICIENT IN ABSORBING SOUND AND REDUCING REVERBERATION AS A RESULT. IT CREATES A COMFORTABLE AND CALMING AMBIANCE MAKING COMMUNICATION BETWEEN PEOPLE CLEAR AND UNCLUTTERED.

4AKustik® sound absorbent system

This sound absorbent system for use in ceilings and walls comprise melamine faced MDF slats. Its high-performance levels are achieved by the application of Helmholtz resonators and sound dissipation using porous textures.

4Akustik® combines excellent sound absorption performance with the highest health and safety standards. The panels are E1 certified for formaldehyde emissions and EC certified for its reaction to fire.

4AKustik® 13/3

4Akustik®13/3 oak melamine faced MDF slats are installed to cover at least one wall of the Cecil Nurse Muteboxes.

The high number of holes in the rear of the 4Akustik®13/3 MDF slats, combined with 3mm milling create a particularly flat curve giving a very even acoustic effect across the frequency range.

The installation of the wall panels is subject to an installation charge which will be quoted separately per project depending on the site location and specification.

4AKUSTIK® WALL PANEL FEATURES:

- Workspaces with poor acoustics and excessive reverberation can be very distracting causing people to be unproductive. 4Akustik® panels have significant benefits to address this problem in areas where people gather, e.g. meeting rooms, open plan offices and cafeterias.
- 4Akustik® panels are manufactured from medium density fibreboard (MDF) which is machined into a scientifically developed sound absorbent. They operate on the Helmholz resonator principle, i.e. a high number of holes milled into the MDF in which sound waves dissipate. These resonators are extremely effective in the absorption of medium range frequencies.
- Between the 4Akustik® panels and the wall to which it is applied, a layer 30mm thick acoustic wool is installed. The acoustic wool with its porous textures absorbs a higher range of frequencies. The combination of medium and high frequency absorbers reduce reverberation by up to 90% making it one of the best solutions to address poor acoustics in the workplace.
- 4Akustik® panels comply with the highest global health and safety standards and are E1 certified for use in an office environment, i.e. compliant with European standards of formaldehyde content.
