FEATURES:

- Workspaces with poor acoustics and excessive reverberation can be very distracting causing people to be unproductive. 4Akustik® panels have significant benefits to address this problem in areas where people gather, e.g., meeting rooms, open plan offices and cafeterias.
- 4Akustik® panels are manufactured from medium density fibreboard (MDF) which is machined into a scientifically developed sound absorbent. It works on the Helmholtz resonator principle, i.e., a high number of holes milled into the MDF in which sound waves dissipate. These resonators are extremely effective in the absorption of medium range frequencies.
- Between the 4Akustik® panels and the wall to which it is applied, a layer 30mm thick acoustic wool is installed. The acoustic wool with its porous textures absorbs a higher range of frequencies. The combination of medium and high frequency absorbers reduce reverberation by up to 90% making it one of the best solutions to address poor acoustics in the workplace.
- 4Akustik® panels comply with the highest global health and safety standards and are E1 certified for use in an office environment, i.e., compliant with European standards of formaldehyde content.
